

Alumni 1985-1988

Pat was one terrific pitman, err... pitwoman. In fact, she was the first female pitperson we ever had and she wowed our customers with some excellent service.

But she really wowed us with the work she did outside the lube shop.

She went to college and step-by-step attained her doctorate. She now owns a private psychology practice in Arizona.

So she traded in drain plugs for a doctorate and the pit for private practice. Sounds like a good deal to us.
